Introduction

In the present, evermore globalized era, there is without any doubt, a need for homogenized curricula at a European level and a need for institutions that can offer students qualifications, knowledge and skills that are recognized across national borders. Aiming to be continuously at the forefront of research and education, the European Public Law Organization (EPLO) has created a higher education institution under the name of “European Law and Governance School” (ELGS), which constitutes the materialization of this need.

The European Law and Governance School is founded upon the belief that the European Union plays a crucial role in ensuring global stability, promoting democracy, and the overall progress of mankind, and that the core values of the European Union must be upheld while it strives for better integration. The ELGS also believes that the key source of hope and the only path to successful integration is through the proper education and training of the youth of Europe.

Thus, the Vision of the ELGS is to create a generation of youth that will identify themselves as Europeans, that will serve Europe, and that will disseminate the idea, culture and values of Europe throughout the world.

Inspired by the values that lie at the heart of the European Union, such as fundamental rights, the free movement of professionals, goods and services, and the creation of a single market system, as well as by the challenges and opportunities created by these policies, the ELGS has identified the need to create a new form of education that is Pan-European in character. This education must start at the undergraduate level in order to create and prepare the next generation of legal and governance scholars to work within the fast-evolving European and International institutional structures.

The idea was initially conceived by Professor Giuliano Amato, Former Prime Minister of Italy, member of the Board of Directors of the EPLO. To that effect, in 2008 the “Group of Rome” was constituted around him and comprised of the most esteemed professors and practitioners. The Group met regularly to discuss the various strategic and operational aspects of the project.

As the time passed, the project matured enough for the Board of Directors of the EPLO to decide in 2009 to create an EPLO agency called the “European Law and Governance School”, thus providing it with all the necessary tools and empowerment needed to achieve its objective.

The inaugural launching of the School took place with the first symbolic meeting of the Board of Trustees at the premises of the European Parliament in the spring of 2013.

The further development of the School followed while 2015 marked the initiation of the Schools’ programs.

Points of Contact/Who's Who

The European Law and Governance School (ELGS) is supported by resident and international teaching staff, with established reputations in their areas of expertise in both academia and the professional worlds.

Considering the reforms made within the European Higher Education Area that facilitate the recognition of knowledge and skills across Europe, as well as the EU programs designed to mobilize and unite the youth of Europe, the ELGS has combined these values, policies, standards and efforts to create an entirely new form of European tertiary-level education that is holistic, integrated and interdisciplinary in its approach, and which starts from the undergraduate level up until the Executive level, thus covering the needs of legal and governance academics and professionals at all stages of their journey.

Designed by a body of internationally recognized and acclaimed European academics and practitioners, the programs of the ELGS offer a supranational approach to law and governance studies in the EU, and provide students with a great degree of flexibility and mobility.

The ELGS will welcome both EU and non-EU citizens that wish to be educated on the legal and governance systems of the EU, as well as its policies, culture, and many languages.

LLM in EU Law

This one year taught degree program offers students an in-depth look at key issues of European Union law, and enables students to choose from a variety of elective courses addressing the most pressing themes being discussed throughout Europe. The objective of the program is to offer a) a solid institutional /constitutional understanding of the manner the EU works and the ways it may evolve in the future, b) a comprehensive and horizontal vision of the main EU policy areas combined with c) a spot-on analysis of some of the most dynamic policy areas. The approach followed will be essentially legal, but the political and other contextual dynamics will also be put into perspective. Students having followed the program shall be in a position to discuss any major EU legal issue, as they will be acquainted with the relevant legislation, case law and scholarly literature. They shall be in a position to offer oral and/or written advice on core questions of EU law and will be able to draft basic court submissions on EU law matters, as well as to write a publishable academic paper.

To whom it is addressed

Performance and Assessment

a. Taught courses

Several modes of assessment are used in taught courses to test students' achievement; performance in class, written or oral assignments and projects, essays, and examination papers.

I. Performance in class

Lectures are conducted in such a way as to encourage student participation and interaction. This is why it is very important that students should have prepared themselves before each lecture, by having reviewed the reading list for the specific unit. Students are required to attend all classes and are allowed to miss no more than 10 percent of class hours of each course. Any absences in addition to this should be communicated to the administrative offices of the ELGS in advance in order to obtain the approval of the Provosts.

II. Assignments and projects

Students may be given assignments and requested to work on presentations and projects, either alone or as members of small groups. Such assignments, presentations and projects are normally presented before the class, either during a lecture or on other arranged hours. Assignments, projects and presentations are marked on a scale of 1-100.

III. Essays

Teachers may request from students registered in their course to draft essays on specific points and/or questions relating to the subject-matters covered by the module. Normally, essays should not be lengthier than 2.000 words each, unless otherwise decided by the teacher of the module. Essays submitted to teachers after the deadline set for submission will not be considered, unless the student has reasonable grounds justifying the delay. Essays are marked on a scale of 1-100.

IV. Exams

i. Undergraduate examination procedures are as follows:

Students of the undergraduate courses will sit at exams at the end of each semester. Some weeks before the examination, the administration of the School sends out a notice with further details of the examination process, the location and the conduct of examinations, confirming dates and the timetable of examinations and indicating the likely date of release of the results. Normally, the results of all examinations are released some weeks later, on a date of which students are notified.

Each examination normally lasts for three hours. The material (statutes, codes, etc.) that students will be allowed to have with them in the examination room, if any, may vary depending on the module. Details of this are notified in advance. The form of the examination may also vary depending on the module. It may either be in the form of multiple-choice examination paper(s), a choice of questions (including “problem questions”) of which students will be asked to address a number, or all, or it may be a combination of both the above. In the event of handwritten exams, students must ensure that their handwriting is legible. If an examiner is unable to read what a student has written, the student may be required to have his/her script typed out in the presence of a qualified invigilator, at the student’s own expense.

If a student thinks his/her performance in an examination will be or has been affected by factors such as illness, s/he should notify the teacher of the module, who’s also in charge of its exam. The teacher will communicate the matter to the respective Provost, and make the appropriate recommendation, if s/he deems that the case made by the student is grounded.

Students are marked on a scale of 1-100. Written work, presentations, projects, assignments are also marked on a scale of 1-100.

At the undergraduate level, 20% of students final grade is awarded on the basis of student’s overall performance (including active participation, performance on assignments, projects, presentations etc, quality of written work, like essays etc.), while 80% is awarded on the basis of the final exams.

Students are marked on a scale of 1-100. The grades are as follows:

- 91% and above=excellent
- 76-90% =distinction
- 66-75%=good
- 50-65% pass
- Below 50%=fail.

Students achieving a grade of 91% and above (hence, a mark of “excellence”) will be eligible for a scholarship, which may consist of a fee waiver, reduced pricing for accommodation, and/or other financial facilitations (student loan by the School, etc.). Decisions on awarding scholarships, fee waivers, and any other type of financial facilitation to “excellent” students shall be taken by the Faculty Board, in accordance with the provisions of the present Regulation.

Students who fail in the annual exams in less than half of the modules for which they are assessed may be granted leave to be re-examined. Leave to be re-examined is given by the PUS. In order to give such authorization, the PUS takes also into consideration the overall performance of the student, his/her performance in essay work, participation in class etc. (hence, the PUS, in order to take the decision to allow a student to give the exams again, asks for the opinion of lecturers).

Re-examinations are normally scheduled before the commencement of the next academic year. A three-member panel, appointed by the Provost upon the recommendation of the Faculty Board conducts the exams.

For each of the failed modules that the student may be allowed to be re-examined in, the student has to pay 10% of his/her annual fees.

Students, who fail in more than half of the modules taught in either the first or the second of their three-year-long courses are not allowed to pass to the next year, and are requested to repeat the year. Students of the third year may be allowed to be re-examined in all their failed modules, even if they are more than half of the ones taught during the academic year, by decision of the PUS, provided that they pay 50% of their annual fees.

Information on individual educational components can be found on the syllabus.

Tuition and Aid

Tuition for both EU and International students for the LLM in EU Law program for the academic year of 2017-2018 is 11,850€.

Please be advised that there are other direct and indirect costs related to attendance, in addition to tuition fees, such as books, supplies, accommodation and living expenses which must be taken into consideration by students when applying.

Scholarships are available for a select number of students and take into consideration merit. If you are interested in receiving a scholarship, the appropriate box should be selected on the application form and a 400-600 word personal statement must be submitted, outlining the ways in which you satisfy the criteria.

Other Institutions that offer financial aid are:

John S. Latsis Public Benefit Foundation supports both undergraduate students in Greece and postgraduate students from Greece and abroad during their studies.

The Onassis Foundation The Foundation has established various scholarships programs for Hellenes and Foreigners

Sylvia Ioannou Foundation Scholarships for Postgraduate and Doctorate studies.

The Executive Committee of the EPLO take decisions on the financial assistance granted to students, namely: - the number, duration and level of scholarships for taught and research degree programs. Scholarships may be in the form of fee waivers, financial assistance or otherwise. - the number and duration student grants and loans, as well as the amount to be made available for this purpose each year, - any other financial assistance scheme. The awarding of a scholarship to a candidate is made by the Deputy Director of Education, following a decision of the Executive Committee, after having received the opinion of the Provosts and the Faculty Board on the academic merits of the applications of each candidate. Decisions are communicated by the administration office of the School, and are announced together with the final results of the admission process. For students already registered in the ELGS who have scored a mark of 'excellence' in the exams, the awarding is announced after the end of the examination period. Grants, loans and any other type of financial assistance that may be awarded to applicant students will be communicated by the administration office of the School. In deciding on the award of scholarships, grants, loans or any other type of financial assistance available, the executive committee takes into particular consideration - the academic performance of the applicant student, or the educational/academic profile of the applicant candidate, - the general social conduct of the applicant student/candidate, - the substantiation of the request –and the need for assistance- made by the applicant student/candidate.

Practical Information for Mobile Students

PUBLIC TRANSPORT

With an urban population of more than 4 million people, Athens is the capital of Greece and the 4th most populous capital in the E.U. with a large, modern mass transit system to serve the needs of residents and visitors that consists of:

- City buses
- Electric trolley-buses
- Athens Metro
- Athens Tram, and
- Athens Suburban railway.

Athens is connected to even the remotest destinations through the Athens International Airport, ports of Piraeus, Rafina and Lavrio, national railway network operated by TRAINOSE and, long-distance bus network KTEL. The KTEL is used by our undergraduate students who wish to travel from/to Athens to/from our Sounion premises. The KTEL from Athens to Sounion will take an hour approximately (for details refer to the transfers section below).

When using Athens Public Transport, you are obliged to hold a valid ticket or travel card. Tickets and cards are valid for the transport mode and time period printed on them. All tickets have to be validated in the validating machines upon boarding (buses, trolleybuses) or walking to the platforms before boarding (tram, metro). You should demonstrate your validated ticket or card upon request to the authorized fare inspectors together with the relevant supporting documents certifying your right to free or reduced transportation cost.

Failure to display a valid ticket results to a fine which is 60 times the price of the ticket (regular ticket € 1,40 or reduced € 0,60), i.e.€ 84,00 for those who are obliged to use regular ticket and € 36,00 for those eligible for reduced ticket.

From 2017 a new electronic ticketing system has been introduced in the Athens public transport network, replacing the older paper tickets and cards.

There are 3 types of Athens Transport tickets:

- The Ath.ena Ticket can be charged and recharged varying from a “90-minute ticket for all modes” to 5-day tickets. Airport transfer tickets and 3-day tourist tickets are available as well. The Ath.ena Ticket can be bought from and recharged at all Athens transport ticket offices as well as any automatic ticket issuing machine. Half-priced Ath.ena Tickets are only available from Athens transport ticket offices.
- The anonymous Ath.ena Card which is a plastic rechargeable card that can be used again and again.
- The personalized Ath.ena Card which is a plastic rechargeable card that can be used again and again. It bears the photo and name of the passenger it belongs to. To issue a personalized Ath.ena Card, a Greek ID card and an AMKA certificate is required. For non-Greek citizens, personalized Ath.ena Cards can be issued with a passport.

Sports

As you will notice upon your arrival, Legrainia is a small coastal village that of course does not offer the same amount of facilities and attractions as Athens does. But you can still have a great time herein a peaceful environment, close to the sea and nature. The EPLO Campus is located at the seaside, only steps away from the Aegean Sea with an outdoor open theater and a garden of 30.000 square meters. It is only 4 km away from the ancient Temple of Poseidon in Cape Sounion. Students can spend their free time practicing their favorite sports at the campus' facilities, as well as by swimming and participating in water sports at the many nearby beaches and coves, engaging in outdoor activities such as bike riding or running, and spending time with friends in the evening and on weekends at the nearby town of Lavrio.
